

Ranking #1 on Google is now a vanity metric.

Swipe for the part nobody's pricing in

SWIPE →

You're not being outranked. You're being left out of the answer.

Your buyer stopped scrolling ten blue links. They ask ChatGPT, Perplexity, or Google's AI for the best option, and they act on the three names it returns.

If the model doesn't cite you, you're invisible to that buyer. Your #1 ranking never enters the room.

I make brands the answer AI gives.

Not keywords. Not blog volume. I engineer how language models read, trust, and cite your brand, so you show up the moment a buyer asks.

If your website is revenue infrastructure, this is the gap I close.

See where your brand stands

seowithfaiz.com →